Brickie pride — 1984

Over the years many activities take place and we don't recognize the connection between them. This connection is "Brickie Pride." You feel pride when its you that caught the touchdown pass that won the conference title. Remember the fall and spring plays; all the long hours and hard work and the feelings of pride when it went off without a hitch. Going to athletic games, painting windows for Homecoming, participating in "Spirit Week," working on committees for clubs are all "Brickie Pride." Being chosen MVP on your sports team, accepted to National Honor Society, chosen to serve on the Student Council, selected a National Merit Finalist, and other individual awards contain in themselves great pride. You, the student body, have a great deal of "Brickie Pride" in you and it shows. With the expansion of the science department and library we showed our pride by adjusting to the inconveniences we had during construction. The entire student body should be happy with the pride shown during the year. In the years to come, let's keep up our unique "Brickie Pride!"

1. During a pizza party, Sophomores Ann Thomas and Kathy Fattore enjoy their pizza.

2. One of the major construction projects is this addition of an elevator on the west end of the building.

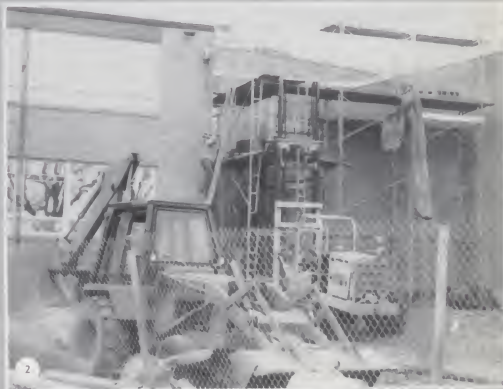

3. Cross country runners Chris Dooling, Roberta Adams, Michelle Gerke, Coach Funkhouser, and Suzanna Lara ride in the Homecoming parade.

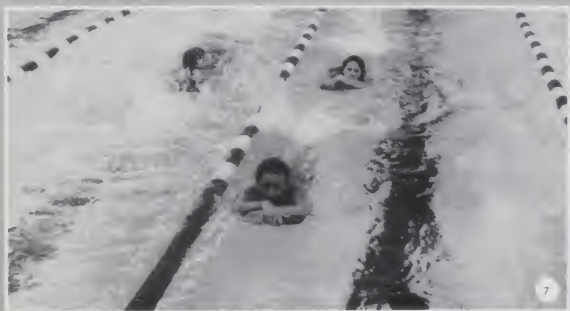

4. Concentrating on her studies during her journalism class is Sophomore Peggy Frybort

5. At a pep session, Coach Steve Balash does cart wheels to the cheering of the students

6. Playing the school song during a football pep session are members of the band.

7. At swim practices Junior Chris Kicinski is using a kickboard to help prepare for the upcoming meet.

Once again the Homecoming parade led Hobart fans to Brickie Bowl. A new addition to this year's parade was the girls' cross country team. During the week students showed their spirit by participating in "Spirit Week." Of the various days, students seemed to enjoy Halloween day the best. Students came as many different things and had very original costumes. At the pep session, Senior Jeff Vanderplough was named Mr. Football. The cheerleaders led students in a cheer and Miss Debbie Steller cheered to the team. The Class of 1984 again won the float contest with the theme "Bury the Pirates." This year's homecoming court included sophomore princess Heather Docktor; junior princess Amy Reed and queen Pam Stazinski. At the game the Brickies did their part by defeating the Pirates 23-0.

1. Before the game, Senior Rae Ann Keller sells homecoming mums to a Hobart couple.

2. The 1983 football queen and her court were junior princess, Amy Reed; queen, Pam Stazinski and sophomore princess, Heather Docktor.

3. During a pep session the cheerleaders play a game of Simon Sez with a couple of football players.

4. The Hobart High School student body chose Senior Pam Stazinski as its 1983 football queen.

5. Singing to the football team at the pep session is Miss Debbie Steller's way of saying good luck.

6. At the Homecoming pep session, Senior Jeff Vanderplough was named Mr. Football.

7. Showing off her costume during Spirit Week's Halloween Day is Senior Dawn Wojkovich.

8. Showing their school spirit by building a pyramid, from top to bottom are Seniors Sandy Shudick, Shanna Richardson, Kim Watson, Kathleen O'Brien, Michelle Gary, Roxanne Westgate and Kris Wilson.

9. The Senior Class won the float contest with the theme "Bury the Pirates."

Michelle McDonald twirls way to Junior Miss title

"Everything Came Up Roses" for Senior Michelle McDonald, Hobart's 1984 Junior Miss. Michelle won a $550 scholarship and was chosen over 15 senior girls to represent Hobart at the state pageant in Frankfort. Michelle twirled her baton to the popular song "Flashdance." First runner-up Angie Forbis received a $350 scholarship. The recipient of a $200 scholarship was second runner-up Julie Jamison. The Scholastic Award, a $250 scholarship, was given to Laura Patrick. Also Diane Jelaca received the Non-Finalist Talent Award. Her rendition of the "Sabre Dance" on the accordion won Diane a $100 scholarship. Spirit of Junior Miss was given to Pam Shay. Gunilla Vesterlund, a Swedish foreign exchange student, received a special award. She was not a competing contestant, but she participated for the experience. Other girls who competed were Tammy Clapp, Suzie Kirkland, Natalie Mavronices, Karen Nawrocki, Lori Olkoski, Chris Seyser, Kara Turley and Tina Zimmerman.

1. Opening the show, contestants sing and dance to the song "Everything's Comin' Up Roses."
2. Senior Michelle McDonald takes her walk as Hobart's 1984 Junior Miss.
3. Dancing to "If My Friends Could See Me Now," is first runner-up Angie Forbis.

Brickies enter playoffs for fifth time

After a season of outstanding offensive and defensive playing, the Brickies once again made the playoffs with a 10-0 record. This set a state record of five years in a row. In the sectional matchup, the Brickies played the Munster Mustangs and won 21-6. The following week the Brickies hosted conference foe Portage whom they defeated in regular season by a score of 34-6. Once again the Brickies prevailed, winning 23-8. The Brickies' next opponent was the Penn Kingsman. The team went in hoping to win and have another shot at state, but when the clock ran out, the scoreboard read Penn 17, Hobart 0, thus ending season of hard work and sweat. In spite of the loss the team had much to be proud of. It fought to the end and showed its "Brickie Pride" all season.

1. Carrying the football in a game against Portage. Senior Jim Rush pushes by the Portage Indians.

2. Showing us who's number one is Coach Don Howell and our 1983 Brickie football team.

3. As the Brickies make another fine play the Hobart fans show their appreciation.

4. After losing to the Penn Kingsman varsity cheerleaders Angie Forbis, Michelle McDonald and Melinda Cochran show their emotions.

5. During a pep session Senior John Bruce is chosen Mr. Legs by the cheering of the students.

Dramatists present Miller's 'The Crucible' as fall play

The Genesius Players celebrated the 30th anniversary of the writing of "The Crucible" by presenting it as the fall play. Male leads for the play were Seniors Chuck Hatfield and Jon Krone as John Proctor and Reverend John Hale. Female leads were Junior Melinda Cochran as Abigail Williams and Junior Holly Freckleton as Elizabeth Proctor. Seniors Micki Stratton and Tom Loden were assistant director and stage manager, respectively. Director Shirley Mumaugh commented that "The Crucible" is a psychological and emotional play and "an important literary and theatrical work that should be repeated." Performances were Nov. 17-18.

1. Judge Danforth, (Dave Nanney), along with Judge Hawthorn and Rev. Parris, examine villagers accused of witchcraft.

2. Abigail Williams, portrayed by Melinda Cochran, pleads with Mary to stop sending out her spirit.

3. The Putnams, (Midge Zeller and John Hunt), and Rev. Parris, (Ed Hook), argue over the rumor of witchcraft throughout Salem.

4. Proctor, (Chuck Hatfield), threatens Mary Warren, (Raelyn Williams), with a whipping if she refuses to confess herself in court.

5. While being questioned, Elizabeth Proctor, (Holly Freckelton), denies her husband is a lecher.

6. The terrified girls stare trancelike at the "yellow bird" in the courtroom scene.

7. A battered and weary John Proctor proclaims, "God is dead" before being imprisoned.

8. Willard, played by Rob Ervin, tries to sober a drunken Sarah Good, portrayed by Jeanane Garbart, as she calls to Lucifer

Wojkovich crowned Homecoming Queen

A 63-50 defeat over Andean topped the week-long festivities of Basketball Homecoming. Senior Dawn Wojkovich was crowned Queen. Runners-up were Angie Forbis and Lori Olkoski. Junior Princess Chris Wayman and Sophomore Princess Holly Dockter were also crowned Homecoming night. At the pep session, Senior Bill Emery was named Mr. Basketball. Bill received a crown, sash, T-shirt with his name and number, and a cake. The cheerleaders presented a blindfolded obstacle course for two players. Seniors Bill Emery and Mike James were the victims when the girls removed the "obstacles" from the "course." Bill and Mike stumbled blindfolded onto an empty floor searching for the course. During Spirit Week, many students participated in army, sweats, hats and sunglasses, clash, and, finally, spirit day.

1. Breaking the Homecoming run-through, Senior Brad Ruel gets fired up for the big game against Andean.
2. Sophomore Brian Murray shows his school spirit (and his taste in clothes) on Clash Day.

Talent Show performed in gym — Believe It or Not

"Believe It or Not," the Genesius Players presented the 1983-84 Talent Show April 26 and 27 in the gymnasium. The 60-member cast had to move the show eight days before opening night because of asbestos in the auditorium. Juniors Melinda Cochran, Dave Nanney, Midge Zeller, and Senior Jon Krone served as emcees for the "Believe It or Not" Talent Show. Co-stage managers were Seniors Mary Mills and John Trojan. Mr. Dean Wolff donated the use of his sound system for the show. Twenty-four acts performed during the almost two hour show. Blackouts included the 2 + 1 ("senior citizens" wander into the show), announcements (a spoof of the messages on the school's PA system), and impersonations of famous ladies. The entire cast joined the emcees in the finale, singing their version of the theme from the TV show "The Greatest American Hero" ... "Believe It or Not."

Brickies set 3 state records

The varsity team did an exceptional job. The team had only four returning starters so it wasn't expected to do well. The team ended the season with a 12-1 record. Once again it was Sectional and Regional champs and won Conference for the sixth time. It set a state record of 39 consecutive wins at home and entered the playoffs for the fifth time, which was also a state record. The team had two All-Staters in the UPI and AP polls. They were Seniors Tony Karras and Jeff Vanderplough. Tony was selected Defensive Conference MVP and Jeff was selected Offensive Conference MVP. Jeff was also the leading scorer in the conference. Eight team members made the All-Conference Team. Coach Don Howell was selected Post-Tribune Coach of the Year.

The sophomore team had a fine season with an 8-1 record. It improved as the season progressed and had a major victory over Merrillville. The Brickies were conference champs and played well against teams with juniors.

Basketball team improves record

The varsity basketball team finished the season with an 11-12 record, its best one since 1974. The boys won their own Holiday Tourney after hosting it for six years. The highlights of the season were the overtime loss to top-ranked Michigan City Rogers and the second place Sectional finish. Senior Bill Emery was awarded second team All-Duneland Conference. He led the team scoring 281 points, while Senior Paul Klein scored 278 points. They both were selected Most Valuable Players. Bill had the best field goal percentage while Paul had the best free throw percentage. Senior Mike James had the most free throws and Senior Kirk Jackson the most assists.

The junior varsity finished the season with a 10-10 record and won its first Holiday Tourney at Valparaiso. Leading scorer was Junior Jerry Karwowski and leading free throw shooter was Junior Jeff Anselmo. The sophomore team was 2-3 and also played well against more teams.

Poor free throws hurt girls' record

The girls' basketball team compiled a 4-15 record losing nine of its games on missed free throws. "I believe that one of the major accomplishments was that each team member realized that it takes a whole team effort to win rather than just one or two people," said second year head Coach Debbie Glass of the season. Leading scorer for the Brickettes was Senior Sherrie Biggs. Senior Pam Stazinski was selected most valuable player, Sophomore Natalie Kostbade was named the most improved player and Senior Maureen McDonald received the 3 "D" Award.

1. With some quick moves, Senior Pam Stazinski tries to outmaneuver and outdribble herself away from an Ingot defender on the run.

Girls capture first All-Duneland meet

The girls' track team hosted the All-Duneland Conference meet and won it for the first time. The girls finished second in the conference while setting six school records. Senior Lori Olkoski competed in the high jump at the State meet. The squad was coached by Betty Funkhouser for the fifth year along with first year assistant Joann Pyritz. Senior Jackie Regnier was the captain of the team. Lori Olkoski and Maureen Manning were named to the All-Duneland Conference team. Awards went to Kris Sherrard and Jackie Wayman for most improved, Maureen Manning for highest point total, Lori Williams for the 3 "D" award, Lori Olkoski, most valuable player in field events, and Jackie Regnier, most valuable player in running events. The team only lost to two schools during the outdoor season and won all indoor competition.

Stack Bros. place 2nd, 3rd at State

The Stack Attack, Andy and Jimm, continued dominating the boys' track season with first and second placings all the way to the State meet at which they placed second and third. Andy matched the state champions height of 15'6", but he took more jumps to get there. Jimm repeated his third place position from the previous year in the pole vault with a personal best of 15'3". The Brickies, with a limited number of athletes, dominated the field events in most of the meets. Captain Bill Ellis was voted most valuable player because of the 163½ points he earned in an undefeated season in the high jump. Bill set a school record in the high jump with a jump of 6'8". His speed on the track gave the team many points in the mile relay and the open 400 meters. Rick Smith and Scott Johnson were #1 and #2 in most dual meets with Rick ending with second in the Gary Regionals with a toss of 54'3½" and a trip to the State meet. He was the best HHS shot putter since 1956.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Lady Bricks finish with 6-1 season

As described by fifth year Coach Thomas Wuchner, "... the girl's tennis team enjoyed an excellent junior varsity season, compiling a 10-3 win/loss season; though the varsity players ended with a disappointing 6-11 record. It still was rewarding to see the 25-member squad enjoying the game." Wuchner also pointed out the highlight of the season as being the 3-2 defeat of Lowell in the sectional play, after losing to the Red Devils in the regular season. Most valuable player honors went to number 1 singles player Sherrie Biggs and Karen Nawrocki received the most improved title. The Brickie spirit award went to Senior Pam Shay while Sophomore Sherry Toneff took the underclassman tourney championship.

Rush selected to Jr. Olympic team

The Brickie baseball squad finished its second consecutive 20-win season with a 20-10 record. Highlights included the Bricks 6-5 victory over Gary Roosevelt, won by a grand slam home run in the bottom of the seventh inning, plus Jim Rush's selection to the 1984 USA Junior Baseball Team. This squad spotlights the nation's top players and could lead to selection to the '88 Olympic team. Captains for the team were Seniors Rich Brendza, Jim Rush and Dave Watts. Rush also was selected Most Valuable Player while Watts and Bob Budzielek were named Most Valuable Pitchers. In his ninth year as skipper of the Bricks was Dwight Mathis, with Eli Ford and Ron Paige serving as Mathis' capable assistants.

Ladies win first Conference match

For the first time in the history of the girls' golf program, Hobart won a Dune-land Conference match, defeating Portage 239 to 245. And for the second time in Hobart's golf history a girl competed at the regional level, that Brickie girl being Senior Kris Wilson. Wilson also was named the squad's Most Valuable Golfer. The team as a whole finished the season with its best record of five wins compared to six losses. The club was guided by Coach Tom Workman, in his fourth year as head coach.

The boys' season was also the most successful since 1975. The club scored its highest finish in Sectional play by finishing fifth out of 20 teams. The final record of nine wins, nine losses was very rewarding, considering they lost the first four matches of the season. Seniors Greg Kicinski, Scott Lovell and Bret Swynenberg, along with sophomore stand-out Steve McIntyre, led the Bricks throughout the season. Kicinski was named Most Valuable Golfer and was selected to the Dune-land All-Conference team.

Intense writing course introduced to juniors, sophomores

A nine-week composition course for juniors and sophomores was added to the curriculum. Large English classes were divided between two teachers for nine weeks of intensive writing. There were many advantages. For example, students received more individual attention. Teachers concentrated on a thorough job and had a smaller amount of papers to grade. In the sophomore English classes, students studied "Julius Caesar" via films and records. English VII classes viewed the TV show "Castle," a new version of "Macbeth." Students in Mrs. Elizabeth Christner's classes volunteered to research various topics and report the findings orally to the class. In the journalism class, students created individual miniature yearbooks as projects.

Mrs. Denise Galovic's Spanish classes researched various topics and made group and individual projects. The advanced students studied the story of Don Quixote in a supplementary text. Some members visited the Art Institute in the spring. In Miss Sharyl Mitchell's Spanish V-VI classes each student did an in depth study of a Spanish-speaking country. The members of Mrs. Vera Cory's German classes created advertisements as projects. These advertisements were in German and were also presented orally. To learn the alphabet, Russian students made posters with the letter and an object beginning with that letter. A native Russian visited the classes and showed slides.

1. Senior Chuck Hatfield and Junior Heidi Bowles discuss the various foods they've tasted of German descent in class.

2. Giving an oral biography book report in Mrs. Cynthia Lambeth's class is Sophomore Peter Ornelas.

3. In French class, Mr. Tom Wuchner prepares to sample some of the food his students brought in.

4. Two of the 18 German students from Erlangen, West Germany wait for a ride home with Hosts Laurie Russell and Anne-Marie Whitcomb.

5. Junior Nino Maggio, like many other juniors, is involved in the nine-week intense writing course.

6. Working on a foods collage in Mrs. Denise Galovic's Spanish class is Sophomore Eric Michaels.

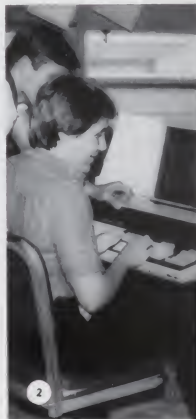

Ho-Hi Life, Memories staffs move to former shop room

The publications room was relocated to room 103, previously occupied by building trades. The move was necessary because of the expansion of the library. As a result, the staffers lost their own dark room and they had to share a more modern, better-equipped dark room with the print shop. Both the Ho-Hi Life and Memories staffs were unusually small this year. The Ho-Hi Life published a twice monthly newspaper with four pages, except on special occasions. This was half the pages of last year's publications. Moving nearer to the print shop helped the newspaper staff to become more involved in the graphic arts. Due to increased cost and declined income, the Memories staff was forced to reduce the number of pages in the yearbook. It also had to increase the cost of the book from $15 to $17 after the first month of sales. The staff maintained some color, spot color and other graphic effects, though other luxuries were cut. Yearbook staff members were invited to a convention in Beecher, Illinois, sponsored by the American Yearbook Company. Both publications attended the Northern Indiana Journalism Seminar at Purdue Calumet.

1. Junior Melinda Cochran and Cindy Stanton begin working on their layouts as Senior RaeAnn Keller, Memories editor, looks on.

2. Typing copy for the newspaper and yearbook staffs on the Quadriek is Senior Chris Seyser.

5. Trying to find the right negatives are Senior Jackie Regnier and Junior John Russell.

6. Working on their newspaper layouts are Editor Kent Fattore and Senior Krisin Blake.

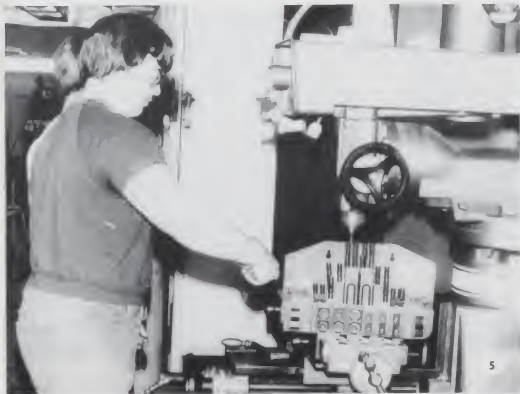

7. Junior Chris Kicinski proves there is a lot of work involved in being a newspaper reporter.

Building trades classes construct dugouts, cabin

Building trades was nearly dropped because a previous project, a house, wasn't sold. Due to community concern, the course was rescheduled. Projects included dugouts at City Ball Park and a scout cabin at Lakeview Park. Mr. Mark Walker's metal shops participated in an exhibit at the Southlake Mall in March. Metals III-IV designed and built miniature two-stroke internal combustion engines. In the print shop, classes also displayed projects at the Southlake Mall School Exhibit in April. Groups worked on production techniques. The classes studied text reports on current trends, production, commutes, careers and innovations. The electronics and electricity classes worked on their power supply exhibit for the Science Fair. Force fields were researched as alternative power sources. The drafting students designed their own floor plans for a house. Technical school speakers talked to Mr. Gary Burkhardt's auto shops.

In the Home Economics Department, enrollment was on a rise. Mrs. Diane Lawrence taught a full day at HHS, rather than commuting to the junior high. The foods classes watched a demonstration on meat cutting and packaging. Classes in family living and child development also had guest speakers in January and the second semester. New equipment in the department included hand mixers, measuring cups, mixing bowl sets, can openers, and other kitchen utensils.

1. Senior Tim Lopez carefully watches the press in Mr. Joe Mrak's print shop.

2. Mr. Victor Sable's building trades class constructed the baseball dugouts. Building forms at city ball park is Senior Joe Sandilla.

3. Drafting students, like Sophomore Mike Huff, work hard on their floor plan assignments.

4. With one of the new hand mixers in home economics, Junior Joe Croy makes Christmas cookies.

5. Senior Jesse Garland uses the drill press in Mr. Mark Walker's metal shop.

6. The guest speaker in home economics discusses meat cutting and packaging.

7. Sophomore Ryan Lamprecht, with the help of Mr. Michael Zoladz, works on his projects.

Wolff becomes director; theater presents children's plays

Prep room teacher, Mr. Dean Wolff, undertook the added responsibilities of directing the Concert Choir and Girls' Glee. This was due to the resignation of Mr. Michael Gillan, band and choir director. An addition to the choral department under Mr. Gillan was the Madrigal Choir. The Madrigal Choir was an extra-curricular activity that rehearsed one day a week after school. All three choirs performed at the Mall during Christmas. They also sang at the December 14 and May 22 concerts. Many choir students attended the solo and ensemble contest in January. Of these, Junior Midge Zeller was the only soloist to advance to the state competition, where she received a near perfect score of "8" and a first place medal.

The theater class presented two children's plays for the grade schools and public. "Once Upon A Shoe" was about children's poems and "Once Upon A Time" was a parody on fairy tales. "Shoe" leads were Seniors Sara Huge and Steve Haxton as Mother Goose and Mr. Smith. Ginger Litteral (Antoinette), Jon Krone (Jonathan), and Micki Stratton (Fairy Godmother) were the leads in "Once Upon A Time." Performances were Feb. 1, 2 and 4.

The advanced speech students had research projects, group work and panels as well as regular class work. The speech, mass media and theater classes used a video tape machine for special projects.

1. Altos Midge Zeller, Linda Pickering, and Michelle Quillen concentrate on their part during a rehearsal for the upcoming concert.

2. Demonstrating the application of clown makeup in speech class is Junior Brian Kenney.

3. Junior John Russell throws a fake punch at Senior Sara Huge in theater class.

4. Concert Choir — first row — J. Russell, N. Russell, B. Davis, J. Trojan, G. Fisher, M. Cochran, M. Zeller, R. Peterson, K. Barker, L. Williams, L. Franks; second row — B. Steen, T. Reagan, D. Johnson, B. Hamilton, C. Kranz, E. Hook, J. Krone, S. Pender, N. Burke, L. Quigley, L. Pickering.

5. Senior Steve Haxton reveals his true identity to surprised Sophomore Ed Hook in "Once Upon A Shoe."

6. In "Shoe," Mother Goose is portrayed by Senior Sara Huge.

7. Mr. Dean Wolff demonstrates the correct pronunciation of the word "morning."

8. Girls' Glee — first row — M. Cochran, B. Steen, S. Pender, D. Jelaca, R. Gibbs, L. Franks, K. Barker, T. Reagan, L. Baayvel, L. Pickering, Tammy Hendricks, M. DeMass, L. Williams, M. Zeller.

9. In speech class, Sophomore Mitch Hoffman explains various diving techniques.

10. Senior Tom Loden, portraying a child, doesn't like the idea of possibly losing his "shoe."

Gillan resigns as director; rifle corps added

Due to the resignation of Mr. Michael Gillan, band director, at the end of the first semester, the high school band was put under the direction of junior high directors, Mr. Art Henderlong and Miss Peggy Kaiser.

During the 1983-84 school year the HHS band and auxiliary corps received several awards. The new rifle corps, which replaced the pom-pom corps, added a new style to the band. While at the Fred Miller Summer Auxiliary Camp, the corps was awarded "Most Improved." At the Chesterton Invitational, the band and corps received a third place in Class B level. In October they traveled to Penn High School and received a first place. The first place was received because of a fine inspection, discipline and the care of the instruments.

The band received new uniforms for the warmer weather. The uniforms were selected to accent the classical jazz music the band performed.

1. Signaling the band and auxiliary corps to turn left are drum majors, Juniors Lisa Hansen, Kathy Halasac and Suzanne Hilton.

2. Playing a flute quartet for Solo Ensemble contest held at HHS in February is Senior John Hook, Junior Lisa Hansen, Senior Mary Mills, and Junior Jill Lopez.

3. The HHS Symphonic Band performs at the Anniversary Concert held in April.

4. 1983-84 Auxiliary Corps: Front Row — D. Malmquist, N. Mavronicles, K. Hendron, P. Shay, S. Kirkland, M. Konarski. Second Row — L. Coster, B. Rivera, L. Leach, R. Cheek, S. Mundy, D. Ford. Third Row — T. Burrell, C. Trojan, T. Mettenburg, A. Wright, T. Navikas, S. Steingar, S. Shroeder. Fourth Row — S. Mavronicles, P. Woykovich, M. Zimmerman, J. Rans, M. Maxwell.

5. Drum major Kathy Halasac directs the band and corps during a half-time show at a football game.

6. Performing for the crowd at a basketball game are Seniors Kelly Hendron and Suzi Kirkland.

7. Helping keep up the spirit of the crowd, Sophomore Laurance Draves plays the school fight song.

8. Junior Bill Lovall shows off his drum playing talent at one of the many band concerts.

9. Participating in the Homecoming parade, members of the band march through town to Brickie Bowl.

Typing prerequisite dropped; sophomores take shorthand

The typing prerequisite for shorthand classes was dropped, allowing sophomores to enroll in this particular course. Students in Mrs. Judy Harder's office procedures classes listened to a guest speaker from Robert Morris College. The presentation was entitled "Careers in Business." One requirement for almost 130 students in Mr. Bob Graham's typing courses was writing and typing a term paper.

Members of Mr. Dale Marcus' stain-glass classes took a field trip to a glass works in Kokomo, Indiana. Pottery classes visited Haeger Pottery in Dundee, Illinois. Mrs. Astrid Cicak's second and fifth hours crafted a macrame wallhanging during the second grading period. The project in fourth hour was an oil painting.

1. Starting a project for ceramics class, Senior Dave Tonneff pours his mold.

2. Senior Cathy Woronecki completes her assignment in office procedures.

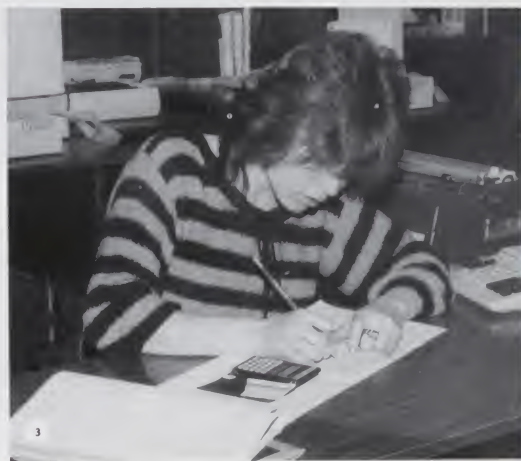

3. To double check her budgets, Senior Madelynn Pocci uses her calculator.

4. Senior Sharon Anderson puts all her effort into her stainglass work.

5. Sharpening his skills, Junior Robert Chavez works on his typing assignment.

6. In latchhook class, Senior Diane Castro works to finish her rug before the deadline.

7. Beginning his pottery assignment is Junior Bob Willoughby in Mr. Marcus' class.

Sophomores complete computer training

Sophomores were required to take only one semester of Consumer Economics. The second semester will be picked up during their senior year. During that one semester sophomores completed a new four-week computer training course.

Junior history classes did a variety of things, including reading the novel "All Quiet on the Western Front," and George Orwell's "1984." Mr. Mathis' class did a special report on radical groups throughout the world. Senior economics and government classes heard speakers from ITT and from the States Department of Finance Institution. A research project and book report were part of the requirements for students in Mr. Johnson's psychology classes, while students in Miss Payne's sociology classes made individual shields explaining themselves. The AP History class took a tour through the Hobart Historical Society. Sophomore Leonard Jerva received, for the third year in a row, a first place in the Lake and Porter County District History Day competition.

1. Putting up a bulletin board for history class is Junior Shawn Lake.

2. In Mr. Johnson's psychology class, Senior Natalie Mavronicles and Junior Dawn Skolak do an experiment.

3. A member of the National Guard gives a speech on filling out job applications.

4. On a field trip to the Appellate Court, Senior Rhonda Kocur takes time out for some lunch.

5. Calling in results of the election in the May primary is Senior John Hook.

6. In Mr. Mathis' history class, Juniors Lisa Seibel, Jill Sarbenoff and Laurie Hueitner present their project on a radical group to the rest of the class.

7. Looking at some of the interesting items at the Hobart Historical Society is Junior Tami Hinchley.

Co-ed aerobics added to physical ed. program

Aerobics was an addition to the physical education program. To make the activity co-educational, students in Miss Debbie Steller's classes did calisthenics to music, rather than dance routines. Most of the movements were based on sports, also. Miss Steller said that aerobics exercise the cardiovascular system. HHS sponsored adaptive physical education for a second year. This special course was for students with all types of disabilities, due to illness or accidents. Bowling and rollerskating were some of the activities in Miss Steller's adaptive physical education classes. Students viewed one videotape or movie per month on activities that could not be completed in the class. Physical education was mandatory again for sophomores. Some activities included weight training, team handball, swimming, floor hockey, frisbee, wrestling, softball, combatics, and volleyball. In the advanced class, students team taught in groups of two or three in Mr. Gary Davis' classes. Units of study included karate and skiing.

Members of Mr. Jim Johnston's alcohol education courses listened to guest speaker Mr. Mack, who discussed the effects of cigarette smoke on the lungs. Later in the year, the classes were visited by a speaker on drugs and their effects on humans.

A popular class with juniors and sophomores was driver's education. The course was team taught by instructors Mr. Moe Rhody and Mr. Jim Johnston.

1. Doing the standing broad jump is Sophomore Adam Benjamin in gym class.

2. Guest speaker Mr. Mack explains the effects of cigarette smoke on the lungs to the alcohol education classes.

3. Learning to use the simulator, Sophomore Kathy Fattore does her driver's education assignment.

4. Miss Debbie Steller's fifth hour gym class proves the only way to play football is on your knees.

5. Arm wrestling, a form of combatics, is demonstrated by Sophomores Victor Garcia and Eric Haussman.

6. Members of a sophomore gym class relax during free period in the pool.

7. Bowling with the advanced PE class is Junior Mike Budzielek in top form.

8. Driver education students, like Sophomore Tracy Johnson, experience road driving on the simulator.

Math, Science Departments receive modern equipment

Over $340,000 was spent on the renovation in the Science Department. Some reconstruction was done to accommodate for new equipment. This equipment included microscopes, lab tables, etc. Because the construction wasn't completed until the end of the year, many teachers had make-shift classes in other parts of the building.

Many of the science classes were involved in field trips throughout the year. In the spring, Mr. Craig Buford's advanced biology class visited the Shedd Aquarium in Chicago. Miss Gail Shrader's biology classes visited the Bailey Homestead and West Beach in May. Mr. Darryl Blink's conservation classes toured the sewage plant and listened to a guest speaker from NIPSCO. A solar energy guest speaker talked to Mr. Blink's earth science classes. These classes also visited the National Lakeshore and Sullivan's Caves.

The 30 new Apple IIe computers in Miss Sharyl Mitchell's room were the additions to the math department. Students in Mrs. Jackie Roger's intermediate and advanced algebra classes took elimination tests in January for a math contest. The top two scores of that contest competed in another in April.

1. A construction worker puts the finishing touches on a new lab table in one of the science rooms.

2. Putting a transparency up on the screen for the class is Sophomore Vince Rios.

3. Helping Senior Tony Karras on one of the new Apple IIe computers is Senior John Hook.

4. Putting together a project for Mr. Blink's Earth Science class is Sophomore Doug Morris.

5. Dissecting a crayfish in Miss Shrader's class, are Sophomores Julie Salava and Lori Williams.

6. With a look of confusion on his face, Senior Brett Logan tries to figure out his analytic geometry.

7. Students in Mr. Blink's conservation class take a tour through the sewage plant.

8. Writing a proof on the board in Miss Mitchell's geometry class, is Sophomore Laurance Draves.

Mrs. Cicak retires

"There are still a few pictures in my mind that need to be painted," said Mrs. Astrid Cicak of her plans after retiring from Hobart High School at the end of the 1983-84 school year. "After all, if Grandma Moses could do it, so could I," she continued. Mrs. Cicak was the art, and sometimes German, teacher for the last 25 years. Before coming to HHS, Mrs. Cicak attended Indiana University with her husband. She was born in Europe and emigrated to the United States in 1950. She has five children and 10 grandchildren. After leaving HHS, Mrs. Cicak flew to Europe with a daughter and two grandsons to see her mother for the first time in 20 years. She plans to spend her retirement traveling in the Middle East and Europe with her husband, Fedor, a retired IUN professor, learning Spanish and word processing, and, of course, painting.

Retiring teacher Mrs. Astrid Cicak, and her husband, Fedor, plan to travel extensively.

Asbestos closes auditorium, lecture rooms

The Hobart High School auditorium, lecture rooms and auditorium lobby areas were closed April 16 when Principal Richard Barack announced to the student body that friable asbestos was found in these areas. The high school was the second city school to have areas closed due to the asbestos, the first being a wing of Foreman School. All activities previously scheduled for the auditorium were moved to other areas and other school buildings. In May, the Environmental Protection Agency announced that it has fined the School City for not following EPA guidelines, but the school planned to ask for a hearing on the fine. By the close of school in June, the School City was seeking a firm to begin removing the asbestos from the affected areas.

All persons entering the auditorium containing asbestos had to wear protective clothing.

Classes

SENIORS

The Senior Class of 1984 left the confined world of high school to step into the fast paced life of college and jobs. Although the economy darkened the hopes and dreams of the seniors, they did not give up their pursuit of happiness. The class turned out numerous scholars, athletes, and fantastic friends. Hopefully, they will be able to maintain their high standards of accomplishing their goals.

Their class motto was "To Have A Friend, Be One." The class colors were maroon and navy blue and the class flower was the yellow tea rose. For the past four years, the class won the Homecoming float contests for football and basketball. Pam Stazinski reigned as football queen and Dawn Wojkovich as basketball queen. The year ended with 297 graduates.

The Senior Class Officers are seated. Mark Leto, treasurer; Bob Cross, president; Bob Budzielek, vice-president; and behind, Sherry Kerr, secretary.

Juniors

The Junior Class will experience many changes for its last year in high school due to the new state requirements. The class treasury had $1,500 to spend for the Junior-Senior Prom, "Stairway to Our Dreams," which it sponsored April 28 at St. Sava's Hall. Besides the prom, the juniors were in charge of decorating the lobbies for Christmas. A selected group served as ushers and distributed programs at the graduation ceremonies. The theme for the Junior Class float for the 1984 Football Homecoming was "Go For The Gold." The junior princess was Amy Reed. Chris Wayman was crowned as the basketball princess.

Sophomores

The Class of 1986, better known as Sophomores, made the transition from junior high life to senior high life very smoothly. The sophomores won many yelling contests at football pep sessions to show their unity among the classmates. The class sold candy bars of all sorts to raise money for the treasury. As juniors next year, they will use this money to sponsor the prom. The theme for the sophomore float was "Lash The Pirates." The Football Homecoming princess was Heather Docktor. The Basketball Homecoming princess was Holly Docktor. A change in the grade value will be started with the Class of 1986.

ADMINISTRATION

The 1983-1984 school year seemed to have been moving quite smoothly. There were no major crisis to conquer, no major decisions to make. Things began to change, however. In the spring asbestos was discovered in the auditorium and lecture rooms. With the auditorium out of commission, the administration moved the Talent Show, band and choir concerts, honor convocations, and commencement ceremonies to the gymnasium. Dr. Linda Hardin became the new assistant superintendent. The teacher's contract was settled for two years. Dr. Eugene Reisinger was appointed as a new member of the school board.

Clubs

Somers replaces Davies as sponsor of club

The Writer's Club went through a few changes. Replacing Mrs. Loma Davies as sponsor of the club was Mrs. Barbara Somers. The Writer's Club took over deciding what stories and poems went into "The Brickyard" magazine. Also, the club provided judges to select place winners. Fund raisers for the club were a bake sale and a book sale. The money went to pay for the expenses of the literary magazine.

The Debuteens sponsored the Semi-Formal Christmas Dance. Money was raised from both the dance and Valentine's Day carnation sales. They also painted windows for Football Homecoming and decorated lockers for Basketball Homecoming.

The Games Club had no fund raisers of any kind. At each meeting, members played different games such as chess, checkers, and "Stratego."

1. Games — first row — L. Draves, S. McKnight, J. Skiles, G. Fisher, S. Sopko, J. Hoback, — second row — R. Peterson, E. Siabl, A. Schroeder, M. Menke, K. O'Quinn, T. Reagan, B. Steen, D. Ayers — third row — S. Kelley, J. Earl, L. Coates, L. Nelson, T. Stallion, M. Grafton, S. Morgan, — fourth row — J. Erwin, P. Aleman, B. Ruel, T. Gascy, B. Kenney, A. Sandilla, J. Trescmer.

5. Sophomore Debuteen Paula Shafer puts final touches on her Yohan's smile.

6. Senior Janet Werhowatz and Junior Rick Killingsworth played Stratego during a Games Club meeting.

7. Debuteen Sue Schroeder washes a mistake off the window as Jerri Ervin and Tracy Bernoska watch. The Debs painted the uptown store windows for football Homecoming.

Student Council sponsors new MORP dance

The MORP dance was sponsored by the Student Council. The MORP is a dance where everything is the opposite of the prom. The clothes worn by the students were casual. The Student Council sponsored many activities such as the Football Homecoming, Government-Education Day, Mayor/Clerk elections, fire drills and Christmas basket collections. Along with NHS, the club sponsored the Leadership Conference. The Christmas basket collection was distributed to needy families in Hobart. The club had several fundraisers such as the selling of Christmas elves and tickets for the MORP dance. The club had a $500 college scholarships for an outstanding senior. In the annual mayor election, two candidates were selected from the seven nominees. Bob Carnahan ran on the purple ticket and Rick Forrest on the gold, with Rick winning. Sophomore Patrick McEuen became clerk, since he was unopposed.

3. Student Council members Bob Cross, Mike Bunch, Greg Kicinski, and Kent Fattore tally the mayor votes with the help of Mr. Loveless.
4. School mayor Bob Oppman starts the convention by introducing the nominees for mayor.
5. Junior Rick Forrest gives his reasons as to why he would be a good mayor for the school. Rick won the election.
6. Giving his acceptance speech for mayor is junior candidate Bob Carnahan.
7. Junior nominee Shawn Lake gives his acceptance speech for mayor. Shawn was school clerk.

Lifters add new dimension to varsity squad

Seven senior athletes added a new dimension to HHS cheerleading when they became lifters for the varsity squad. The lifters wore football jerseys and purple sweats, which were donated by the Athletic Department. The cheerleaders' fundraisers were car washes, football stickers and raffle ticket sales. Kara Turley, football cheerleading captain, won the Brickie of the Month Award for November. The cheerleaders went to camp at Purdue Lafayette during the summer. The girls won six first place spirit stickers. These stickers were awarded each night at the camp to the squad with the most spirit.

Miss Debbie Steller was the new sponsor for the Booster Club. Selling key chains was the club fundraiser. The club provided flowers for girl athletes participating in sectional competition and decorated boy athletes' lockers for sectionals. Also, it organized the Basketball Homecoming.

FCA raffles Cabbage Patch doll

During the Christmas season, a Cabbage Patch doll was difficult to find. As a fundraiser, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes raffled off one of the Cabbage Patch dolls. The group also received a five percent rebate on groceries bought at Wiseway. Other fundraisers were a pancake sale in April and concession stand sales at a varsity football game. The group took a weekend trip in September to the FCA Camp Headquarters near Turkey Run. The FCA Club was in charge of the opening and closing prayer for commencement. It joined the Varsity H Club in sending food baskets to three needy families in Hobart during Thanksgiving and Christmas time.

The Varsity H Club attended all athletic events. Club members signed up and attended both boy and girl sports. Fundraisers for the club were the sales of hats and concession stand sales at a varsity football game.

The Weightlifting Club was made up of 14 members. The club was for students interested in body building or conditioning after school.

1. FCA member Chris Kicinski sells a raffle ticket for a Cabbage Patch doll to Kent Fattore.

NHS gives ice cream sundaes to teachers

On Teacher Appreciation Day, the National Honor Society gave ice cream sundaes to teachers. The NHS sponsored the "Brickie of the Month" and Leadership Conference. It was also involved in a school wide Quiz Bowl. The group took several trips outside of school. They went to such places as the Water Tower Place, Museum of Science and Industry, and a hayride at Deep River Park. The members attended a symposium held by representative Ralph Ayres. Members Lisa Russell, Paul Guglielmetti, and Janis Atkins participated in Valparaiso.

The Genesisus Players had 25 active members. The Genesisus Players acted as producer and financier for theater class productions, the fall play, "The Crucible," and the Talent Show. Club members Edward Hook and Michelle Stratton painted a mural on a wall outside of the auditorium.

The Quill and Scroll consisted of eight members. They produced the senior works booklet. Along with the Writers Club, they put together the "Brickyard" literary magazine.

Club hosts students from Germany

The German Club hosted the students from West Germany. It raised money for this by concession stand, pizza and calendar sales. The club gave a scholarship to an outstanding senior. The club also earned money for students who went to Christian Ernst Gymnasium in Erlangen, West Germany for three weeks in July.

The Spanish Club consisted of 40 members. The club, with the other foreign language clubs, sponsored the Friday morning doughnut sales. Spanish Club also sold other things such as candy and poster calendars. Due to Daffodil Day falling during spring vacation, the selling of daffodils was cancelled at HHS. The club went to outside school activities such as dinner at Cisco's Restaurant, a hayride, and a final party at Shakey's Pizza and bowling.

The Russian Club, which consisted of 15 members, went to places outside of school. With the NHS, they went to Water Tower Place and the Museum of Science and Industry. They also visited an Orthodox Church around Eastertime. The clubs fundraisers were candy and poster-/calendar sales.

Being editor of the 1984 Memories yearbook was an experience I will never forget. Due to the fact that this year's staff was so small, we became quite close. Everyone worked well together especially when it came to be deadline time. At times we were sure we wouldn't make the deadline because pictures were needed and copy writing had to be done. But as those deadlines were met and the book began to take shape we knew all of our hard work paid off.

I would first like to thank Mrs. Lambeth for all the help she gave us, especially over the phone in her absence. I would also like to thank Mr. Steve Lach for all of his help while Mrs. Lambeth was gone. Since all but two of this year's staff are seniors I wish them the best of luck in whatever they do. Finally I wish next year's editor Melinda Cochran the best of luck.
